MILLION DOLLARS TO BE COLLECTED

UNPAID INHERITANCE TAXES OF WEALTHY EASTERN CAPITALISTS.

WILL HOLD IN THE FUTURE

Assistant Attorney General Titus Says Large Sum Due From Harman and Other Estates.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 23.—First Assistant Attorney General A. C. Titus, just returned from Washington, announced today that the state of Wisconsin has excellent prospects of collecting a large amount of inheritance taxes from the estates of non-resident decedents in New York and elsewhere, who died possessed of stock in Wisconsin corporations. He believes the state will in the near future receive upwards of a million from this source and that there will be continuing revenue from it. He expects the estate of the late John H. Kennedy alone to yield $500,000 and the estate of E. H. Harriman also to pay a large tax.

Titus also gathered data looking to pressing the action of the state of Wisconsin against Minnesota to settle the boundary line between the two states in Lake Pepin. It will be a friendly action intended only to have the boundary line accurately determined. This the citizens of Minnesota are as desirous to have definitely settled as those of Wisconsin.

SPRING MEET AT WOODBINE TRACK

Ontario Jockey Club's Series of Events Will Open With King's Plate Race Tomorrow.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Toronto, Ont., May 23.—With the close of fair weather, society, race track followers and all lovers of blooded horses will have but one point of interest tomorrow—the Woodbine track, where the Ontario Jockey Club's spring meeting will open with the King's Plate, the first of the important races of the year on the Canadian turf. The opening at Woodbine was originally scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed out of respect to the memory of King Edward, who in his lifetime did much to encourage the breeding of thoroughbreds in Canada. The meeting will continue until the last day of May.

The opening event, the King's Plate for Ontario, or as it was originally instituted under Queen Victoria, the Queen's Plate, is the oldest continuous racing fixture in America, antedating by years the Futurity, the Suburban, the Metropolitan, or any of the American Derbies. It has been run without a break since 1869, when her late Majesty Queen Victoria first donated fifty pounds with the object of encouraging the breeding of thoroughbreds in the provinces. For the first twenty-three years after its establishment, the race had no permanent home, being run at no less than fifty different tracks in Ontario. In 1882 it was made a fixture at Woodbine and has been run there ever since.

HONOR MEMORY OF MARGARET FULLER

One Hundredth Anniversary of Writer's Birth Observed in New England Literary Circles.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Boston, May 23.—The high regard in which the memory of Margaret Fuller is held in New England literary circles was given expression today by exercises commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the writer's birth. The literary and historical societies of Boston and other places appropriately observed the centennial.

Margaret Fuller was born at Cambridgeport, Mass., May 23, 1810. The story of her life and death is one of absorbing interest. On the death of her father in 1832 she supported her brothers and sisters by teaching in Boston and Providence. In 1844 she went to New York and became literary critic of the Tribune under Horace Greeley. In 1845 she went abroad and spent the winter in Rome. Here she met the Marquis Ossoli and the following year they were married. On the outbreak of the Italian struggle for independence, the Marchese took an active part in it, and served heroically in the hospitals during the French siege of Rome. On the capture of that city in July 1849, she fled with her husband in an attempt to reach America. Shortly after their arrival from London, the couple of their vessel was stricken with smallpox and died. As the vessel neared New York a terrible storm arose and the vessel went ashore on Long Island. The seas swept over her deck until not a spar was left, and eight persons, among them the Marquis and Marchese's Ossoli and their infant son, perished after hours of agonized waiting for help.

SEYLER ON TRIAL AT ATLANTIC CITY

Charged With the Murder of Jane Adams Whose Body Was Found on the Seashore Last February.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
May's Landing, N. J., May 23.—The case of William Seyler, charged with the murder of Jane Adams, whose body was found February 13 on the seashore at Atlantic City, came up for trial here today. This is the case which attracted more than ordinary interest owing to the fact that the efforts of the police to extort a confession from the defendant, led to a discussion of the "third degree" methods in the United States senate and to a demand for an investigation of the subject.

On the evening of February 4, of this year, Miss Adams, the victim in the case, with her sister, Alice, and Arvid Seyler left their home on Mansfield avenue, Atlantic City, and went to Young's new pier, at the foot of Arkansas avenue. On the way they met William Seyler, the defendant, by appointment. William is twenty-eight years of age. Jane was eighteen, and her sister Alice only fourteen. The two couples spent the evening on the pier. After several hours the younger couple returned home, leaving Jane Adams and William Seyler on the ocean end of the pier.

When Jane failed to return that night, her mother began to search for her. She found William Seyler at the home, but he gave no satisfactory explanation of Jane's whereabouts. The following day William Seyler left his home for parts unknown and a few days later his brother, Arvid, also disappeared. The mother of the girl, believing that her daughter had eloped with the elder Seyler, notified the police and the authorities were trying to locate the couple, when the body of Jane was found on the beach at Atlantic City.

An examination of the body showed a deep gash over the left eye of the dead girl which led the police to believe that the girl had been murdered. The coroner's physician was of the opinion that the death of the girl had been caused by the injury to her head, but there was nothing to indicate in what manner the injury had been caused. Chief of Investigation Whelan made a careful investigation and succeeded in tracing the Seyler brothers to Wilmington, Delaware, and from there to Peterborough, Va. There the two brothers were arrested two weeks after the disappearance of Jane Adams. They waived extradition proceedings and voluntarily returned to Atlantic City in charge of the two detectives who had caused their arrest.

Both brothers, particularly William Seyler, were submitted to a rigorous examination, known as the "third degree," in the hope of extorting from them some confession or trapping them so as to make damaging admissions, but both brothers stuck to their story. The older Seyler adhered to the statement that Miss Adams accidentally fell into the sea at a place where the railing on the pier was broken, that he tried to save her, but failed. Being afraid that he would be held to account for the death of the girl, the prisoner asserted, he fled to Virginia, followed by his brother, who did not wish to be drawn into the case.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR OLD SOLDIERS WAS HELD SUNDAY

Attorney Chas. Hemingway Gave eloquent Address at Y. M. C. A.—Post Accepts Invitation.

Members of the G. A. R. and others, assembled at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and listened to an eloquent address by Attorney Chas. H. Hemingway on "Our Heritage from the Past: Our Duty to the Future," which was the principal feature of the annual memorial meeting which has been made a feature of the Sunday School Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Agitation, so called, should receive more credit than is now given them, was the plea of Mr. Hemingway, who made this one of the principal ideas of his address. He also pleaded for a "little more taffy and a little less oplaty" for those who fought for the union during the civil war.

After paying a deserved and forceful tribute to the boys in blue, Mr. Hemingway brought out what he considered the real object of Memorial Day. "Today the real, the vital object of Memorial Day celebrations is the inculcation in the youth of our land of a liberal, enlightened, moral, intelligent patriotism, that will enable them to solve and to rightly solve the crucial questions of their day."

From the duty that confronts the youth of the country the speaker turned to the defense of the agitator, now so generally called a "muck raker." "The agitator and the soldier have ever been the twin guardians of more intelligent, more humane, more prominent to the agitator and calls on the soldier only as a last resort."

The work of the Greek, Roman and American agitators, the latter in the great period to the civil war, was then reviewed and the importance of their work brought out. In all those struggles the forces of aristocracy and democracy were aligned against each other and the agitators against the cause of democracy, opposing the people to a sense of their responsibility in guarding their liberties.

Although it has been said that the nation is so engrossed in the chase for the dollar that it can hear nothing else, the late war with Spain in defense of Cuba disproves this. Following this war, other problems have arisen.

"The ultimate disposition of the territory acquired by this last war will test the virtue and the integrity of our nation. But it is not the only problem that democracy will have to meet. Not all tyrants have passed away; not all tyrants have been expelled. The laboring classes, led often by heartless demagogues, work with dagger and bomb. They threaten society on every hand. Opposed to them stand the opportunistic monopolists, blending their hand and foot, buying voters, corrupting legislators and inaugurating a new slavery far worse in many respects than the one which has helped to produce it. The captain of industry has produced a new business code: 'Get what you want; any means is justifiable if you are not caught.' Railroads, steel trusts, coal, insurance, oil, sugar, liquor, cotton, and other industries are squandering in riotous living the savings of the poor; corporation directors gamble with the stockholders' money, change the books to the company and credit the profits to their own shrewdness and their own bank accounts. Wealth is becoming concentrated. One hundred men might be named who could buy a whole state at its tax book value. Less than one percent of the population possesses seventy-five percent of our wealth. A remedy must be found. What? That is the crucial question."

Corruption in government as shown in Chicago and other cities, and the indifference of voters was next brought out. "It is the old story, the citizen is willing to barter tomorrow's liberty for the enjoyment of today. The questions now confronting us are now; old methods will not suffice."

"What shall the new method be? My plea is for agitation, education, consideration, not annihilation. Eternal agitation is the price of a republic. Let us utilize the glories of war and exalt the responsibilities, the heroisms, the humanity of peace, to bring to the world the message of friendship, not hatred; of arbitration, not annihilation; of peace, not war, in the settlement of grievances between nations as well as between classes and individuals is the opportunity, yes, the duty of America."

Democracy's duty in the present age of commercialism, as voiced by the agitator in the press, from the lecture platform, from the grand jury room, is to "Drive the Money Changers from the Temple of Democracy." It is the duty of the present generation to transmit the heritage of the past, a greater and purer Democracy, to the future.

Proceeding Mr. Hemingway's address, the members of the post were welcomed to the Y. M. C. A. by F. F. Lewis, president of the association. An invitation by the association was also accepted by the post to hold a camp-fire in the association building some day next week, the night to be decided upon by the post at their regular meeting Friday evening. The G. A. R. members will furnish the program and a supper will be furnished by the association.

The case of Florence vs. Allen, an action to foreclose on a mechanic's lien has been continued until such time as W. G. Wheeler can give testimony.

Owing to the fact that the plaintiff has not yet submitted his brief, no opinion has yet been filed in the Wolrick case.

WAR ON REV. DR. WM. H. ROBERTS

STATED CLERK'S OPPONENTS SEEK TO OUST HIM FROM OFFICE.

NOW HOLDING TWO BERTHS

Presbyterian General Assembly Start Move to Have Jeffries-Johnson Prize Fight Stopped—May Appeal to President Taft.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23.—The report of the bills and cures committee presented to the Presbyterian general assembly gave the first inkling that a move was on foot to oust Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts of Philadelphia from one of his two offices—stated clerk and treasurer.

It was stated in this report that 132 presbyteries had voted for a readjustment, while 136 had voted against any attempt to force Dr. Roberts to resign either of his positions. Twenty-seven presbyteries had not voted, the report said.

Has Too Much Power.

Though no deductions were made from this vote, it is taken to mean that it depends on Dr. Roberts himself as to whether he resigns the office of treasurer. His opponents claim that the holding of the two offices gives Dr. Roberts too much power in the assembly and in church affairs.

The various resolutions embodied in the report of the committee on Sabbath observance were heartily cheered, especially those urging the Saturday half holiday for workmen.

War on Big Prize Fight.

An appeal to Governor James M. Gillett, of California, to prevent the holding of the Jeffries-Johnson fight on Independence day was introduced by Rev. F. L. Forbes of Seattle, Wash., and was referred to the committee on bills and cures, the main business body of the assembly.

Members of the assembly who oppose the proposed fight will attempt to have the appeal duplicated to President Taft, with a request for federal interference.

A STORY OF REAL LIFE

By WARRINGTON ADERT

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Strange incidents have brought about marriages, but the strangest of all was that which served to unite me and my wife. If I hadn't opened a certain book on a certain day I should either have remained a bachelor or married some one else. Had I opened that same book a day earlier there would have been no such effect. I could not have opened it a day later, for I have never since been in the room where it was kept.

I was at the time curate of a church in a small but aristocratic town. My salary was $600 a year. I had heard stories of girls settling their caps for unmarried clergymen, but I saw no evidence of the truth of these stories in my own case. Most of the girls of the congregation were daughters of well-to-do, some of them rich, parents. Whether the girls did not encourage me because they were aware that I had nothing but my salary or because I was not especially attractive to them I don't know. The fact remains that I was not encouraged.

I thought at the time that my sermons were a trifle too heavy for their intellects. I was given to philosophic thought, and my thoughts found a vent in my homilies. I could see from the want of attention of these girls when I was preaching that they were thinking of the set of their garments, the appearance of their hats and such matters rather than of the ideas I was endeavoring to convey to them.

But there was one young lady whom I noticed fixed her attention upon me from the time I began to speak until I had finished. I would have been at a loss to know whether her interest was in my remarks or in the fact that she had seen me in the church with a sermon book turned to her hymn book or her pocket book for the collection, seeming to forget all about me. As she was the only young lady in the church with a fortune in her own right I never dreamed of marrying her, though she was rather good looking and a very estimable person.

Of course I had the entrée to her home, and many a pleasant evening or afternoon I spent with her chatting upon subjects that were agreeable to me and seemed to be agreeable to her. She appeared to be pleased to start me talking and sat with some fancy work in her hands listening. At that time I supposed a man entertaining to women to be one who could talk well. I have since learned that a good listener would be his most dangerous rival. But the lady did not seem to care to talk herself, leaving me to it all.

This kind of chat about ideas is a very poor conductor for any warming of the heart. Love is not intellectual. A rhinoceros may love, but a rhinoceros is not a thinker. Birds love, but they don't reason as to where they will build their nest. Instinct tells them how and where to do that. I never made a start on saying anything tender. To do so did not occur to me. A curate with nothing but a petty salary to make love to a girl with a fortune in her own right! I should expect to be turned out of the house and probably my pasture at such presumption.

I received a call that would give me no more salary, but I considered the field a better one than the one I occupied. I wished to be a worker as well as a preacher. In the parish where I was there were few poor people and consequently little good to be done among those who most need, to my thinking, a clergyman. I accepted the call and the evening before my departure for my new field called upon the young lady who had shown so much appreciation of my intellectual endowments. I had some new and, as I thought, original points to bring up by which I hoped to leave a final impression.

In the midst of my presentation of my views my friend rose and asked to be excused for a few moments. I was a trifle put out, for I had reached an important turn in what I was saying. Since she did not return at once I cast about for something to look over while waiting. I sat beside a table, and on this table was a single book. Taking it up, I opened it. It was a trashy novel. Turning over the leaves, I came upon a piece of paper on which was written an unfinished note. I was about to put it aside when my eyes caught my own name.

Before my ideas of right had time to crystallize I had seen enough to compel me to see more. This is what I read:

"George Dunham goes away tomorrow, and my heart goes with him. I would be happy if he had said one word from the heart rather than millions from the brain. This waste of words!"

When the writer of this fragment returned I had risen and was looking out of the window. She resumed her seat as though she expected me to resume my intellectual discussion. Instead I fixed at her a whole blunderbuss load of the worst love twaddle man ever spoke to woman.

Before sending this story to the printer as "an incident from real life" I showed it to my wife. She read it through carefully. I watched her to note its effect upon her. I expected to see indications of surprise. I was disappointed.

"Stupid!" she exclaimed. "Do you mean to tell me it never occurred to you that I left that note there for you to see?"

POPULAR NAMES BRING BIG MONEY

WORLD'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION RAISE $85,000 IN UNIQUE WAY.

GIVE HONOR TO PRESIDENT

Taft, Roosevelt, King George, Diaz and W. J. Bryan Are Made Life Members Amidst Scenes of Great Enthusiasm.

Washington, May 23.—Amid scenes of wild enthusiasm the World's Sunday School association in convention here made President Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, W. J. Bryan, King George of England and President Diaz of Mexico life members of that body.

For each of these so honored $1,000 had to be subscribed, and in the case of Colonel Roosevelt the chairman of the convention by popular demand, limited subscriptions to $1.

A delegate from Canada started the enthusiasm. "I nominate William H. Taft for a life membership and Canada pledges $100 toward it," he shouted. A roar of approval went up. The remaining $900 was subscribed in a flash. Mrs. Taft's name was then proposed and her $1,000 "initiation fee" promptly made up.

A delegate from South Carolina proposed King George, and there was a race to subscribe.

Roosevelt's Name Brings Storm.

Then a man shouted: "I nominate Theodore Roosevelt."

The effect was almost magical. Men hopped on chairs, shouting, women rose and frantically waved handkerchiefs. It looked like the stampede of a Republican national convention scene when Colonel Roosevelt was nominated for president. The subscription was quickly raised.

The name of President Diaz was proposed and the necessary $1,000 was soon subscribed.

A youthful orator with raven hair got the attention of the chair and placed in nomination William Jennings Bryan.

The applause had not died down before a voice shouted: "Nehraaka subscribe the first hundred!" The remaining nine were pledged in a jiffy.

The nomination of persons of less public renown continued until $85,000 had been pledged for mission work.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS TO HONOR VETERANS

Plan to Convey the Members of the C. A. R. to the Cemetery on Decoration Day.

One of the tributes to the memory of the departed soldiers and sailors of the late civil war will be rendered on Monday next, Decoration Day, when a number of the automobile owners of Janesville have offered the use of their cars to convey the members of the William H. Sargent Post of the Grand Army of the Republic from their hall to the cemetery and back down town, on their annual pilgrimage to love and devotion to decorate the graves of their deceased comrades.

The members of the Post and the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps will be met at their hall, at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets at eight thirty by enough autos to carry the whole party to and from the cemetery with their wreaths and floral designs. In place of the march to some point on the car lines and the trip in the crowded street cars to the cemetery the veterans will be carried out in the autos and will be saved the extra exertion of the tramp and attendant inconvenience.

M. R. Osborn has had the matter in charge and has met with ready response on the part of auto owners asked to offer the use of their cars. Auto owners who have not been asked as yet and who would be willing to donate the use of their cars for the hour or two they will be needed are asked to communicate with either Mr. Osborn or Charles Evans, one of the officers of the post.

Among those who have already promised their cars are S. L. Carlo, Dr. Dwight, Frank Blodgett, Albert Schallert, Philip Bros., R. R. Powell, Rev. J. C. Hazen, Sykes and Davis, Chas. Juttler, William McVicar, John McVicar, Amos Rehberg and Fred Campbell.

HAD EXCITING DRIVE UP MILWAUKEE STREET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Driver For Minick's Livery Piloted Runaway Team Down Crowded Street

Harry Lambly, driver for the A. F. Minick livery, had an exciting drive late Saturday afternoon but by good luck escaped without injury. He was returning with a hack from the North-Western passenger when his team became frightened near the Corn Exchange and bolted at a break-neck speed up Milwaukee St. Although the reins were wet and slippery, the driver managed to keep the frightened horses in the middle of the street and avoid other vehicles. An accident was narrowly averted at the intersection of Milwaukee and S. Main streets when the carriage struck the car tracks and careened dangerously but the horses were brought to a stop at the barn after a hard struggle.

JOYCE HOME WAS ROBBED SATURDAY

And One of the Pair Suspected of the Job Was "Caught With Goods on Him" by Officer Champion.

Between the hours of two and three o'clock Saturday afternoon thieves broke into and ransacked the Joyce home at 11 South Chatham street, carrying away jewelry and clothing belonging to John P. Joyce, and other articles which had been stored there by parties residing in Madison and Chicago. Officer Peter Champion responded to a call sent in by Miss Anna Mahoney and upon learning from her that two men had been seen leaving the place and securing their descriptions, made a search of the St. Paul railroad yards and arrested one of a pair of suspicious looking strangers whom he located in that quarter. The other man took to his heels and owing to the fact that bystanders paid no heed to the officer's call for assistance, made good his escape. The prisoner gave his name as James O'Connell and stated that his home was in Cincinnati. A bundle which he carried, when opened, disclosed Mr. Joyce's missing jewelry and clothing, two razors, a glass powder box with a silver top, a pair of gold cuff buttons, and other merchandise which he supposed to have been taken from the house. In unexplained manner he was carrying the bundle for a man named Brock and had not entered the Joyce home, he thought, lived in Janesville. The prisoner indicated that he would plead not guilty to the charge of burglary in the daytime and his trial was set for Tuesday morning, May 31. In the meantime he will remain in the county jail, being unable to furnish $500 bail.

DELOIT PHYSICIAN MAKES SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS.

Rheumatism has always been one of the diseases that has puzzled scientists, both by reason of its many manifestations and in the failure of the multiplicity of its cures. In some cases the disease attacks the muscles, and sometimes in one part of the body and sometimes in another, and why one case has contracted muscles with varying degrees of deformity and the other case recovers and apparently comes perfectly cured has been unexplainable. Since cases have developed a diseased condition of the joints from the very first as a rule and going from one joint to another with remarkable rapidity; frequently the joint from which the last move was made being comparatively comfortable. The various features of the disease being humors and unexplainable. As a consequence the various treatments proposed and as a rule tried in vain have been in the same proportion. As a rule when there are ten or twenty theories for a disease the probability is that none of them are right. Dr. P. J. Hurlin of Beloit, after several years' work along original lines has discovered that rheumatism is an indication of that the system is in a condition of over oxidation, that is, that there is too much oxygen in the tissues. Oxygen is an acid in nature and consequently when it is in a free condition, it tends to combine with various organic compounds in the system and form uric acid and other organic acids. An acid condition of a nerve always means pain and therefore we have one of the most disagreeable features of rheumatism, severe pain. Working along these lines Dr. Hurlin has discovered a method of detoxifying the tissues and preventing the formation of free oxygen in excessive amounts, thereby placing the treatment on a scientific basis and taking it out of the realm of guess work and experiment. He is very unassuming in regard to his discovery and was loath to talk further.

NO SETTLEMENT FOR THE MASONS' STRIKE

Efforts of the Industrial Club Committee on Arbitration Are Fruitless.

There will be no settlement in the strike of the masons and the contractors who have delayed sending for a full quota of outside workmen hoping that the local masons might be adjusted have now decided to bring in as many as they can secure to complete their contracts. This fact was made known at the Monday meeting of the Industrial and Commercial club when the committee on arbitration reported. The contractors had agreed to settle the matter by arbitration, give an increase in wages, but refused to consider the eight hour day demand. Many of the local masons have found work out of the city. At the meeting this noon a committee of two were appointed to solicit a subscription of others for the club's secretary, H. H. Bliss and J. L. Wilcox being named on this committee. A committee of three, composed of P. J. Monat, H. L. McManara, and H. M. Dodrick, was appointed to see if something could not be done in the interests of the retailers of the city.

We back up all statements made in our advertisements. We carry the stock and do the business. Large buying means close buying, bottom prices. Everything marked in plain figures.

The Mighty Sale of Rugs, Carpets and Curtains

Which Began Saturday Morning, Remember, Continues For Two Weeks--Until June 3--All This Week and Next Week.

People have learned that when we make a sale IT MEANS BUSINESS. Our Mill Outlet Sale last Fall was a tremendous success. Our January Sale was a large one. The Mighty Sale of Rugs, Carpets and Curtains now going on promises to be a great event. Weather conditions were against us Saturday. Nevertheless the bargains brought out enough buyers to keep several salespeople on the jump all day and through the evening. You can make no mistake by getting to this sale if you have a possible want in floor coverings or hangings.

Lace Curtains

These are proving particularly attractive and our wonderful sale prices are taking people quite by storm. They are lower, in some instances than many merchants pay for them at wholesale. We buy more lace curtains than any stores in Rock County. This is no idle talk. It is the naked truth. We can sell curtains to any merchant in Southern Wisconsin at as low a figure and even lower than they can buy them for from the largest wholesale houses. In the light of these facts you can better appreciate how we are able to make such low prices during THE MIGHTY SALE.

EVERY PAIR OF CURTAINS, EVERY YARD OF NET, IN FACT EVERYTHING IN THE CURTAIN SECTION IS GOING AT A REDUCED PRICE DURING THE MIGHTY SALE.

Rugs and Carpets

With Rock County's greatest stock to sell from, we have a distinct advantage over competition. During the Mighty Sale we offer FLOOR COVERINGS

At Prices That Cannot Fail to Make Housekeepers Take Notice.

Our stock of Rugs, Carpets and Curtains would do credit to a city 20 times the size of Janesville. Our immense trade warrants us in carrying such immense assortments.

Our splendidly lighted room makes it a real pleasure to buy Wednesday or Saturday nights.

THE PRICES which appeared in our Thursday and Friday ads will prevail for 2 weeks. Most people who are interested have no doubt studied them carefully.

Preserve the ad and bring it with you. It will make shopping easier for you. Our greatly enlarged Carpet and Curtain departments afford us room enough to entertain a large concourse of buyers. Take the elevator in north store. The Mighty Sale of Rugs, Carpets and Curtains continues for two weeks.

CONGRESSMAN MCLAUGHLIN

JAMES MCLAUGHLIN

ORGANIZATIONS UNITE IN PROTEST AGAINST INCREASED FREIGHT RATES.

Chicago, Ill.—The largest meeting of shippers held in years is in conference here under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. The object of the meeting is to conduct a systematic and vigorous campaign against the proposed increase in freight rates. Many addresses were made by prominent manufacturers and business men throughout the middle west unanimously supporting the movement. All declared the rates on many articles are too high and that the carriers are wrong in their contention that higher rates will be necessary to meet the increased operating expenses. It is estimated that representatives are present from manufacturing and business interests which pay freight rates on a billion dollars' worth of tonnage a year.

W. H. Burn, vice president of the Manufacturers' association, delivered the introductory address in place of President La Verne W. Noyes, who was absent from the city. Congressman Martin B. Madden prepared a letter which was read analyzing the proposed bill, commending the Interstate Commerce law and pointing out the advantages which it gives shippers. Among the speakers present were James McLaughlin, congressman from California; William D. Bayne, counsel for the Illinois Manufacturers' association; Secretary Glenn of the Illinois Manufacturers' association; H. C. Barlow, traffic director Chicago Association of Commerce; J. C. Lincoln, president of the National Industrial Traffic League; E. E. Williamson, secretary of the Cincinnati Shippers and Receivers' association.

Victor Berger is one of the leaders of the Socialist party, not only in Milwaukee, but in the United States and is recognized as one of the powers behind the mayor's chair in Milwaukee. He took an active part in the convention. Mrs. Emil Seidel accompanied her husband. She is an enthusiastic Socialist.

By RUTH CAMERON

TWO OR three months ago I wrote an article saying that men did not like forward girls, that the forward girl by her forwardness lost not only her self-respect, but also the very thing for which she is trying to trade it—the admiration and love of the opposite sex.

Since then I have received so many letters from girls who say that they attempt to be self-respecting and nice and their consequent unpopularity disproves my statement, that I am going to take up the endgame again in defense of my belief.

For it still is my belief, that girls, I did not say that the nice girl would be very popular, I did not say that she would be the girl who would have to split up her dances and fill out a dozen extras to satisfy the admirers who crowd around her at a dance.

What I said, and still affirm, is that the self-respecting girl, other things being equal, has the better chance of winning the average man's admiration and love. Now please do not translate my terms "self-respect" and "niceness" into meanness.

That is most emphatically what I do not mean. Nobody, man or woman, loves a pride. A pride, moreover, since she is always on the lookout for evil suggestions and humiliations, continually finds them. Above all things, don't be a pride.

Have a nice girl, thinking no evil and expecting none. When anything with a possible double meaning is said to you, it is far better to appear not to see the allusion than to pick it up and resent it.

Be jolly. Enter into all healthy fun-making with your men friends as much as you can.

A man likes a girl who is not forward, but that does not mean he likes her to be stiff. Be friendly, be hearty, be lively and alert and enthusiastic. You can be all that without being in the least forward or bold or impudent, but I think that many times the girls who are trying hard not to be improper overdo the mark and are stiff and formal.

But as to his being necessary for a girl to allow her casual men friends to take liberties with her in order to win their love—absolutely NO. The girls who do that sort of thing are often popular, of course, but do you want that sort of popularity?

Do you want to be spoken lightly of when your men friends are speaking of the women they know, or do you want to be the one of whom they will say, "She is the right sort. There is nothing easy about her?"

Do you want to be characterized as I overheard a man in the street say, "The right kind of girl would have no mind I won't marry the other kind."

Will compliments and the chance to go about make up for things like that?

And as for the marrying part of it—men sometimes approach girls in this way, and then afterwards find the girls have admirable qualities beneath the boldness, and marry them for these qualities, but never for love or admiration of the failure to be self-respecting.

One girl who says she has tried very hard to be a nice girl and attain the niceness as a failure with men, ends her letter:

"I realize that youth is passing quickly by with very little pleasure. I am wondering, does it pay?"

Please, don't feel that way, girls. Self-respect does pay every time.

Not only good men but all men admire it. I know of a rake, a man about town, almost what we call so glibly "a degenerate," who said, "I shall never marry. The right kind of girl would have no mind I won't marry the other kind."

Don't be too formal, too chip-on-the-shouldery. If you aren't a masculine success, maybe it's a tendency in that direction that's to blame. Try to overcome it without going too far in the other direction.

Don't be a pride, but be a nice, jolly, self-respecting girl, and I believe, with all my heart, your own shall come unto you and that it will be worth waiting for.

THE WOMAN WHO GETS RESULTS.

Miss Kate Barnard of Oklahoma.

St. Louis, Mo.—The rise of Miss Kate Barnard from an obscure position to the forefront, until today she is a recognized leader not only in Oklahoma, but throughout the middle west, is due to her careful research, her genius of organization and her ability to get results. During the national conference of Churches and Charities, Miss Barnard was one of the most active figures. Her first prominence came through her investigation of prison conditions in Oklahoma, and through her disclosure reforms were inaugurated which have immensely improved prison life, both from a moral and sanitary standpoint.

BUCCANEERS OF LIFE.

By MARY RUSSELL.

I saw a small boy, who had evidently escaped from espionage, during a street car before a street car the other day.

It was not half so dangerous as he thought, but it was the spirit of four that kept him interested.

He would wait till a car was within two or three lengths of him, and then dash merrily across the street, landing breathless and flushed on the opposite curb.

As far as his feelings were concerned he was hunting lions in the jungles of Africa.

He was so careful to give himself ample time that I think he possibly escaped with the usual number of legs and arms, for even if he had slipped and fallen, the motorman would have had plenty of time to stop the car, but it was the fear of the fall and the car catching him that made him as bold a buccaner as ever sailed the seas and ventured into forbidden ports.

His little mate of about the same age stood in fear and trembling on the sidewalk, and watched with delight as the adventurer arrived safely each time. He did not mind the audience to which the first child was playing, and the applause was an incentive to the boyish sport.

That is the way it is with children of larger growth. Some dare and do, and others, by their admiration, aid in the effort, but never arrive themselves.

The space of danger that urges the venturesome soul acts as a deterring agent to the one who is more timid.

If the fearful child had attempted the same deed he would probably have miscalculated, and either fallen and been hurt, or have not given himself sufficient time and been maligned for life.

That is the harm that the adventurer does in the world of finance, or of religion, or of love. The things he does may be safe for him, but the example he sets makes others attempt to emulate his deeds who are unfitted by the very fibre of their being for adventures.

Some men, as well as women, are born to follow the safe and beaten paths, and some are created to blaze trails. It is only when undue influence is used that we are jarred out of our path.

Conditions sometimes seem to create a new spirit, and some mothers and fathers are beginning to wake up to the truth that they can aid their child to reach with more than one side of life if they will.

One woman I know who has a third little girl that she is trying to develop athletically, had a beautiful playmate fitted in the loft of a barn. All ways of reaching it were closed except the large front door opening into a small gallery, which was reached by a ladder. The child was afraid of the ladder at first, but soon became accustomed to this mode of climbing, and has unconsciously learned several athletic tricks as well, and can swing herself nearly to the top by her hands. She has developed her spirit as well as her muscles and will be more able to cope with the trials of the world for just this little bit of body development. A simple experiment, you will say, and not worthy of note. True, the act was a simple one—it was the thought that counts. Most of our acts in regard to children are simple enough and plain to follow. It is when we use our brains that we get results.

This woman studied the child's weak point and helped it to conquer it—surely, that was a large deed though it only seemed to be building a ladder.

Study your child—and then build your ladder.

PEACE TO HELP TRADE, DIPLOMATS ARE HAPPY

Knox's Diplomacy Credited With Bringing About Better Relations Between North and South America.

Washington, May 23.—Diplomats from all countries are looking forward to a long era of mutual benefit because of the amicable relations existing today between the United States and South America, which are on a firmer basis than ever before.

Following the announcement a few days ago of the peace movement plans inaugurated and worked out by Secretary of State Knox, the willingness of South American countries to accept the leadership and direction of the United States in maintaining permanent peace have been received here.

Word was received that the Ecuadorian government had accepted the Knox plan to mediate its trouble with Peru, thus assuring the success of this latest move. As a result our state department officials are highly elated, while the representatives of South American governments at Washington, together with the Mexican ambassador, share an enthusiasm and good feeling that has not been manifested in such notable degree for a great many years, if ever.

DICK REFUSED INDORSEMENT.

Cuyahoga County Republicans Decline to Give Senator Approval.

Cleveland, O., May 23.—Despite his large vote in the recent primary election, United States Senator Charles Dick was refused the indorsement of the Cuyahoga county Republican convention. The convention expressed its confidence in Speaker Cannon. The Republicans of Allen county in convention pledged their support to Senator Dick.

PATTEN MAY WIN $1,500,000.

Patten to Sell European Spinners 50,000 Bales of Cotton.

New York, May 23.—James A. Patten of Chicago, who has been one of the bull leaders in the cotton market and is being investigated in the federal department of justice for his participation in an alleged cotton pool, has just completed transactions which rumor says will net him a profit of about $1,500,000.

Patten has arranged to sell to spinners in Bremen and Havre 50,000 bales of cotton at a price about three cents a pound above what he is believed to have paid.

Two Banks in Tangle; $400,000 Is Involved.

Albany Institutions Are Creditors of Grain House—Security Declared Invalid.

Albany, N. Y., May 23.—A sensation was caused in financial and business circles when it became known that two local banks were creditors of the Durant & Elmore company, a grain commission brokerage concern of Albany and Chicago, to the amount of nearly $400,000, and that the greater part of the securities deposited with the banks consisted, as it is alleged, of worthless warehouse receipts. It has been asserted that the two banks will lose heavily, perhaps to the amount of the indebtedness, which has not yet been positively ascertained.

Edwin W. Elmore, a member of the company, in answer to a question as to whether there was a shortage in the local office of the concern, said: "Yes, there is an apparent shortage, how much I cannot tell until the matter has been investigated."

Is it possible that the shortage could have been caused by an embezzlement of the company? was asked. Mr. Elmore said he was unable to express a definite opinion on this score.

It is understood that warehouse receipts purporting to represent grain were hypothecated at the banks when there was not enough grain in the warehouses to cover them.

Take Supplies of Government Forces Who Are Forced Back.

Washington, May 23.—The state department received dispatches from Mr. Moffat, United States consul at Bluefields, which confirms the reports of victories by the Estradists over the Madriz forces at and near Rama.

The official dispatch follows: "Mr. Moffat, the consul at Bluefields, reported under date of May 21, that there have been two days' fighting near Rama, in which the Estradists forces lost 14 killed and their wounded numbered 29, who have been brought to Bluefields. The casualties of the Madriz forces are not known. General Monn retired to his outposts after the fight. Large quantities of provisions and ammunition, alleged to be the entire stores of the Madriz forces at this point, are said to have been captured by General Moncada, also of Estrada faction."

The Drysalter.

The drysalter—that mysterious tradesman—was at the time of the great fire a dealer in "salted" or dry meats, pickles, sauces, etc., but he no longer drysalts, but sells instead drugs, dyestuffs, colors and chemicals, and even buttons. His changed business is due to the fact that the "grocer" and the "Italian warehouse man" have captured his original trade, although they have mercifully left him the name. There are many other businesses that are equally puzzling. Probably most of us know what a cordwainer is, but what is an upholsterer and what does he uphold? One remembers the imposing "Societe Anonyme des Bains de Paris," which so impressed and mystified the inhabitants of Paris until they felt the familiar brushes and sticks which proclaim the chimney sweep's business—London Chronicle.

LEAGUE SCHEDULE
STARTS SATURDAY

PLAY THIRTY GAMES IN SEASON
FROM MAY 28 TO SEPT. 3.

FIVE TEAMS ARE ENTERED

With Valuable Trophies Offered, 1910
Race in Reorganized League.
Premises to be Excellent.
New Saturday, according to the official schedule just issued by the directors of the new Commercial League, teams from the Rock River Woolen Mills and the Parker Pen Company will meet at the Fair grounds, two more from the Lewis Knitting Company and the Caloric Company will clash at the Y. M. C. A. park and the season of 1910 will be in full swing.
From present indications, although the league will contain one less team than last year, the race will be an exciting one. Not only will there be the honor of the league championship to strive for, with the additional incentive of the league cup donated by the McNamara Hardware Company has year but each player will have his eye on the cup offered by C. B. Conrad for the best batting average while it is probable that the race for second position will be a hot one in view of the cup donated by the Shelton Hardware Company.
Two new teams, the Caloric Company and the Rock River Woolen Mills, appear in the schedule while three of last year's teams, the Janesville Machine Company, the Wisconsin Carriage Company and the Gar-ette Printing Company have withdrawn from the league for various reasons. Another change made was the election of C. B. Conrad, one of the foremost and squarest sportsmen of the city to the presidency of the league.
The first meeting of the officers and directors of the league will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building at eight o'clock tonight.
The fact that five teams are entering in the race made the task of the schedule makers a difficult one. A schedule was finally arranged however, which permits of an equal number of games for each team and also, if such action be taken within the next week, the entrance of another team. To do this it was necessary to give each team three open dates in the season.
The schedule as it now stands, calls for thirty games; the first two on May 28 and the last on Sept. 3.
The games will be played either at the Fair grounds or the Y. M. C. A. park. Following is the complete schedule and also a list of the open dates:
May 28—
Parker Pen Company-Rock River
Woolen Mills at the Fair grounds

Francis Davis is Oldest in County

Colored Man, Better Known As
"Colonel" Davis, Is One Hundred and Thirteen Years Old.
The oldest man in Rock county and probably in the state, according to the facts claimed by census enumerators in taking the special census, is Francis Davis, a colored man, who makes his home at the county farm.
"Colonel" Davis, as he is called, is now an old and feeble man, but his husks for computing his age is his statement that, at the time of the death of George Washington, he was two and a half years old, and his statement in generally correct as to time. For a man of his advanced age, Mr. Davis is remarkably agile and healthy. He is able to be about all of the time and performs some light labors at the county farm. He was born in North Carolina, a slave on one of the plantations. At the time of the Civil war he was brought to the north, leaving there a wife and a grown up family. He was again married, his second wife dying just summer at the age of one hundred and three years. Mr. Davis' name was sent to the census bureau in January by Superintendent D. M. Barless of the poor farm. When the enumerator for the town of Janesville, J. W.
Bleasdale, came to take the census, there was some question as to his right to secure the names there, as Mr. Barless had sent in those of the inmates. The question was referred to Washington for settlement.

FISHING CLUB HAS SECURED QUARTERS

Ten Janesville Men Have Rented the Vincent Farm at Lake Koshkonong for Club House.
What is known as the Vincent property at Lake Koshkonong has been rented by ten Janesville business men and the house has been remodeled into a comfortable bungalow.
The grounds have been improved, the springs, for which the place has long been famous, have been cleaned out and a suitable bath built, connecting with a long reservoir where the water runs through, making an ideal beach.
The interior of the club house has been rearranged and refurnished. An automobile shed has been erected as well as a stable for the use of the horses of members who may drive up.
The fishing at this part of the lake is ideal and it has a fine outlook as well as a good bathing beach. Thus far no name has been given the club but the ten members are Harry Thomaz, Horatio Nelson, Henry Tall, Ernest Meyer, William Lawyer, William Buob, Timothy J. McKelgan, Thomas F. McKelgan, Richard Downs, and Hurd Wixon. John Horn is an honorary member and is chief of the committee. The club has been in possession for several weeks past and has an option on buying the property at the conclusion of their present lease. The property includes some sixty-five acres and has several buildings on it.

SAW HALLEY'S COMET ON PREVIOUS VISIT

W. D. Britton of This City Well Remembers Its Appearance Seventy-five Years Ago.
W. D. Britton of this city, who is now eighty-two years old, is one of those now living who well remembers the spectacular appearance of Halley's comet seventy-five years ago. According to Mr. Britton's account, he has a vivid recollection of the blood red snow, the frightened people who believed that the end of the world was near, and of his walk of two miles through the woods to a country school house to hear a minister preach of the approaching doom of the world. When Mr. Britton returned from the services that evening, the woods were illuminated by the blood red rays of the heavenly visitor.

CONDITIONS IN SOUTH AMERICA

MRS. WILLIAMS, MISSIONARY IN COLOMBIA, SPOKE AT PRES-BYTERIAN CHURCH.

AWFUL STATE OF AFFAIRS

Of Morals, Finances, Political Affairs and in Church of Complicity Were Graphically Described.
The terrible state of affairs that exist in the republic of Colombia in South America, religiously, morally and hygienically, were graphically described yesterday at the morning services by Mrs. Williams, a missionary worker with her husband in the capital of the country, Bogota.
The subject of her talk was "Conditions in South America," but she dealt largely with conditions as she saw them in Colombia.
"You judge a religion," said she,
"by what it does for the people who believe in it. If you have any thought that missions are not needed in South America, you will read just your idea of our wants, after you hear what I have told you."
There is no land in the world than Colombia that is richer in natural resources. Colombia is a mighty country as God made it. There are mighty mountains all about us.
There are mighty rivers. The Amazon, which flows to the sea, is even mightier than your own Mississippi.
It is a wonderfully fertile and productive country. The native there can dig a little in the soil and plant his crop and in three or four years crops, without cultivation except for the seed he puts in the hole where the seed is planted. There is much mineral wealth. Minerals and precious stones could be found in the mountains to make one immensely wealthy. There are springs of oil and the surfaces of some of the lakes are covered with kerosene, crude, but which would burn were a match applied to it. And yet we have to buy our kerosene from the United States, paying $1.25 a gallon for it.
Magnificent woods abound in the country—the costly mahogany and rosewood. Despite all, this Colombia is a poor country.
"In our own city of Bogota, with a population of one hundred thousand, the coroner tells us that every night from three to six bodies are picked up on the streets, dead from starvation. There are thousands of lepers in the streets—who live from what they beg."
In parts of Colombia there are many who have never seen a Bible and the Indians and others are still in the wild states of barbarism.
When the Spanish came to Colombia, the Indians of South America were more advanced in civilization than those of North America, when the white man first came. But the Indians of today in South America are degenerate and ignorant. One-third of the Indians have never seen a priest or heard of the Bible. The priests do not go out to convert the Indians. In fact, the Catholic church of South America is far different from the Catholic church of North America. The Catholics of North America are trying to regenerate the church of South America. In South America the priests are dissolute and pleasure-loving and herd together in large cities. Cannibalism is also practiced in some remote parts of Southeastern Colombia.
"The condition of our country morally is this thing that first impresses you as you go there. Seventy or eighty-five per cent of the children are born out of wedlock. In Colombia there are two classes; the very wealthy who do not work; and the very poor who work for others.
There are very few of the middle class and it is believed that through them the salvation of the country can be worked out. In the upper classes the women are strictly guarded, the boys and girls and girls being separated in the schools and elsewhere. The men and women of the lower class do not marry. Who is responsible for this state of affairs?
The church which runs the state and demands the high marriage fees.
These are so high that the wages of a laboring man for a whole year would just about be enough to pay for marriage. So in the lower classes there have no homes. The care of the children is left entirely to the women.
Mrs. Williams described the life in the poor hovels where the families, sometimes one or more in a little bit of a place, reside. She told how the children were fed on the native drink, which possesses more nourishment than beer, but produces stiff-jointedness in children sometimes not more than 12 years of age, the drink drying up the juices in the joints.
She also told of the bankrupt condition of the country brought about largely through the present political system, where a man elects himself to office through his power with the army, the police and the priests. The presidents, said she, have absolute power of life and death over the people. She spoke of the reign of President Reyes, who was a poor man, when he became president, but after six years was estimated to be worth forty million dollars. She explained how Reyes enriched himself and his friend through the excessive taxes charged—for killing cattle, building houses and in numerous other ways.
The horrible sanitary conditions, or rather unsanitary conditions were also described. The speaker told of a terrible epidemic of typhoid fever that broke out in the city, through dumping dead bodies that had lain for seven years, in an open cistern in the center of the burying grounds.
She also made the statement that anyone who desired to could be a doctor or start a drug store, knowledge of medicine or chemistry not being required.
The dreadful conditions that prevail are due, according to Mrs. Williams, to the fact that Colombia is the most isolated of the South American states and foreigners have little chance to interfere for the betterment of affairs. The priests are the blind leaders of the blind.
"Do you know," said Mrs. Williams,
"that Colombia is so placed in degeneracy because the church is not doing anything for it. The people are anxious for learning of the Bible, yet believe every one of its some work in God's kingdom. What am I doing for the salvation of the world for which my Elder Brother died?" is a question which each must answer for himself. I could tell you of things in Colombia which need to be done, but which cannot be done for lack of money. I ask your prayers for mission work, for what we pray for God will grant."

HALLEY'S COMET HAS APPEARED IN WEST

Will be Visible For Several Weeks,
If the Weather Permits—Moon in Eclipse Tonight.

Halley's comet is now at home nightly in the western sky, and will be visible to the naked eye, weather conditions permitting, for several weeks to come. Astronomers say that perhaps the best opportunity to get a good view of both nucleus and tail will be tonight during the total eclipse of the moon, which begins early in the evening and lasts until after midnight, if the weather clears.
At 10:22 tonight the comet will set, and although the totality of the eclipse does not occur until some time later, the nearly complete obscuration of the moon's face will greatly aid observation of the comet.
Precisely what happened to the tail of the comet has not yet been satisfactorily settled by the chiefs and experts of the various observatories in America, and will not be settled for a considerable time. A number of calculations must be carefully made before the astronomers can speak with certainty.
Last Tail Laid to Curve.
The majority of the reports from widely scattered stations in the United States, however, seem to agree on the conclusion that the several hitches in the program laid out for the comet by the mathematicians at Kiel and at the government observatory at Greenwich, England, have been due to the great sweeping curve in the tail.
Another interesting conclusion to which Professor Daniel Mestuch of

THE OPTIMIST'S CORNER

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness
By GEORGE F. DUTLER, A. M., M. D.

It is really astonishing how few people there are who properly estimate the value of the sun's rays. A valuable lesson on this point may be learned by observing the lower animals, none of which ever neglect an opportunity to bask in the sun.
And the nearer man approaches to the primitive condition the more he is inclined to follow the example of the animals. It is a natural instinct, which civilization has partially destroyed in the human race. The effect of sunshine is not merely thermal;
its rays have chemical and electrical functions. It is more than possible that sunshine produces vibrations and changes of particles in the deeper tissues of the body as effective as those of electricity. Many know by experience that the relief it affords in wearing pain, neuralgia and inflammation, is more lasting than that of any application whatever. Those who have face ache should prove it for themselves, sitting in a sunny window, where the warmth falls full on the cheek. For nervous debility and insomnia the rest in sunshine.

Appendage Seen on Pacific.
That the comet is travelling on its scheduled path and that it is provided with an unusually long and fan-shaped tail has been shown beyond doubt by the observations at the Carnegie station in California, where the work of Dr. George F. Hale and his helpers has been favored by clear skies and other ideal conditions.
Professor Frost of Williams Bay, speaking of the theory of Professor Creswell, who has been looking at the comet from the Carnegie Observatory, declines to agree with the French scientist in the conviction the Halley wanderer is provided with at least two tails, and probably with several.
Were this theory accepted, says Professor Frost, it would be easy to understand how the tail could be seen in the West and the East at one and the same time.

Professor Bernard of Williams Bay warns those who want to get a view of the comet on its present visit to watch for it nightly without fail, as it is now moving at the rate of 3,000, 000 miles a day and will soon be out of range of the eye. It will not remain visible, he says, after July 1 except in the telescope.

Reckless.
"Aw! come out!" the little boy was heard to remark. "He's a sport. I'll bet yer any amount of money up to five cents."—Harpur's Magazine.

Heaven.
If there is a heaven the angels who do the work there probably never have to fret because the ones who sit around get the credit.
